

GET ACQUAINTED

The Food Office is active in the world of food and drinks: the work environment and healthcare is our focus, good nutrition is what drives us. The Food Office is an agency that immerses itself in these fields. That is to say in the catering and the vending of companies and organizations. We find it important that employees or patients can enjoy their drinking and eating moments under the best of circumstances. We gladly contribute to that using our expertise.

WE KNOW THE MARKET

We know the market inside out, both clients and suppliers. This means we have the knowledge in the section of supply and demand. Knowing exactly what 'is for sale' leads to (financially) healthy solutions in the area of food and drinks. In that we make the difference without a doubt. Thanks to this knowledge, we know how to unite supply and demand as an ideal and successful combination.

HEALTHY AND VITAL ORGANIZATION

Being busy with food and drinks is great. We like to talk about it a lot. On the other hand we do not like long meeting sessions and extensive reports. We prefer getting down to business by getting to know your organization. By seeing with our own eyes which eating and drinking facilities you offer and under which conditions. We improve those conditions wherever possible. That makes your organization healthy and vital including the people who use it. Something that makes everyone happier.

THE BEST CHOICE

Whatever our assignment may be, The Food Office uses a pragmatic and goal-oriented approach. We always have an eye for the vision of your company or organization and show you what consequences your choices will lead to. Because we know the supplier market well, we know exactly where your organization has possibilities to realize its wishes. And that is just what sets us apart from the rest.
